WHEN YOU GO OUT ... BLOW IT OUT!

1

Kids and candles don't go together.

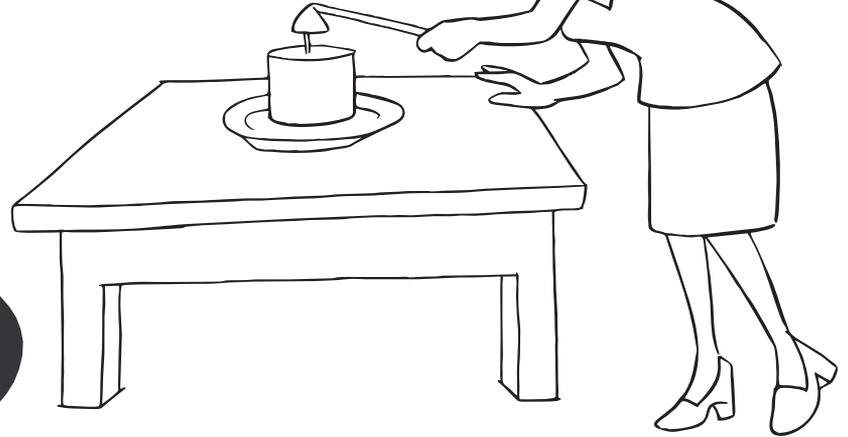

Candles may look pretty, but they can be very dangerous.

Even a small candle can become a huge fire.

When there's a candle burning, there should always be a grown-up in the room!

Make sure grown-ups put out candles carefully before they leave the room.

Write T for True or F for False next to each sentence below.

1. Even a small candle can become a huge fire.

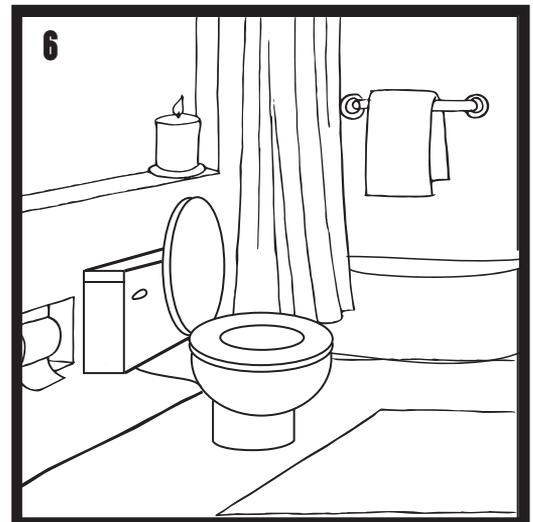

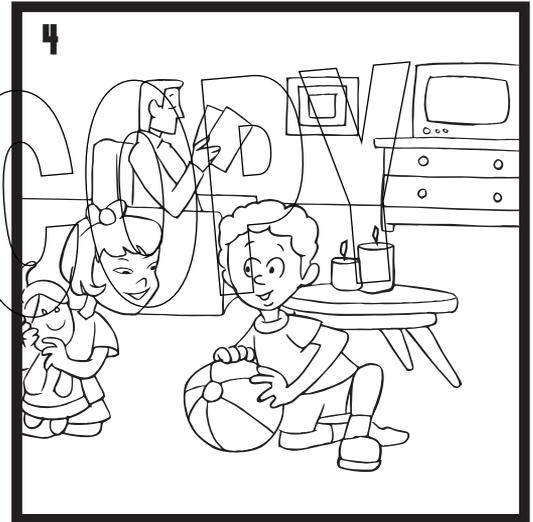

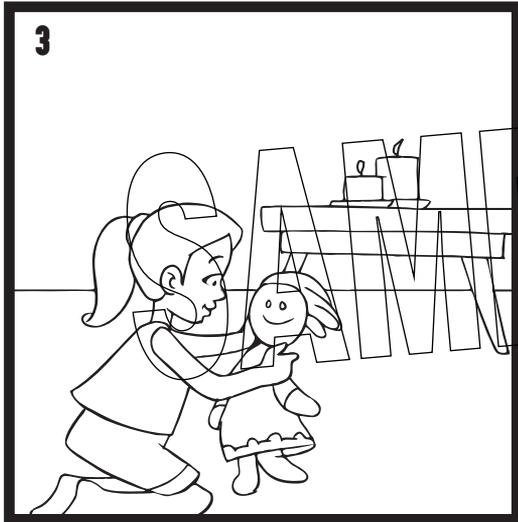

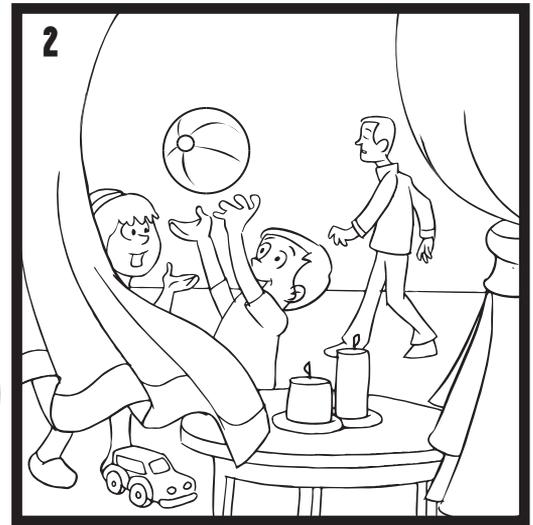

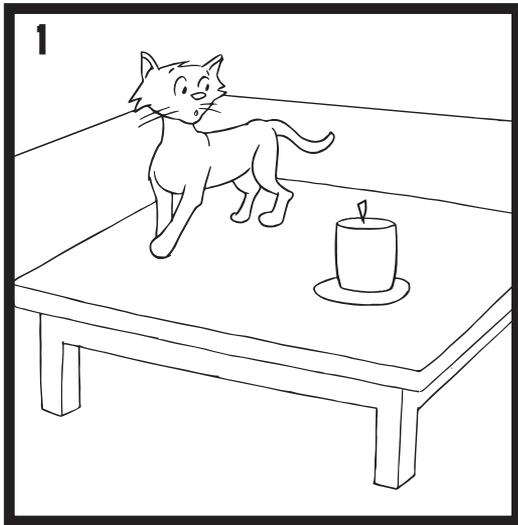

2. It is okay for grown-ups to leave candles burning when they leave the room.

4. If you see a candle burning with no one around, you should find a grown-up and ask them to put it out.

5. Kids can light candles if there is a grown-up at home.

3. Kids should be careful and blow gently when blowing out birthday candles.

Put the number of each safety rule in the circle next to the picture that matches it.

SAFETY RULES

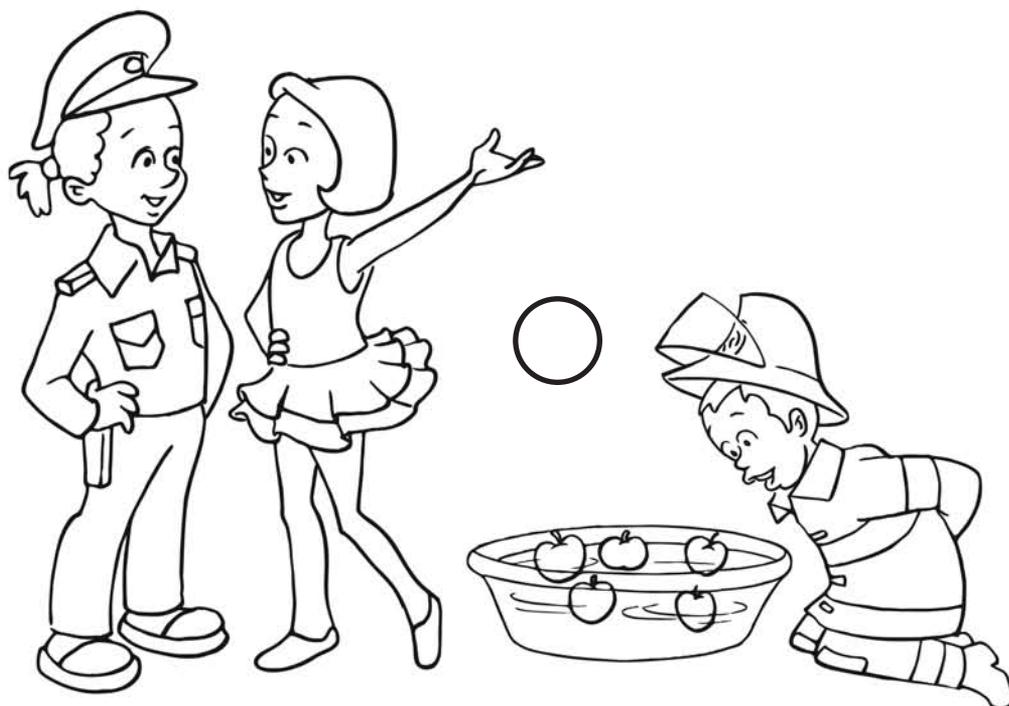

1. Grown-ups should keep matches and lighters out of reach.
2. Kids should play far away from lighted candles.
3. Grown-ups should never put candles near windows or doors.
4. Make sure grown-ups are always in the room when a candle is burning.

SAFETY RULES

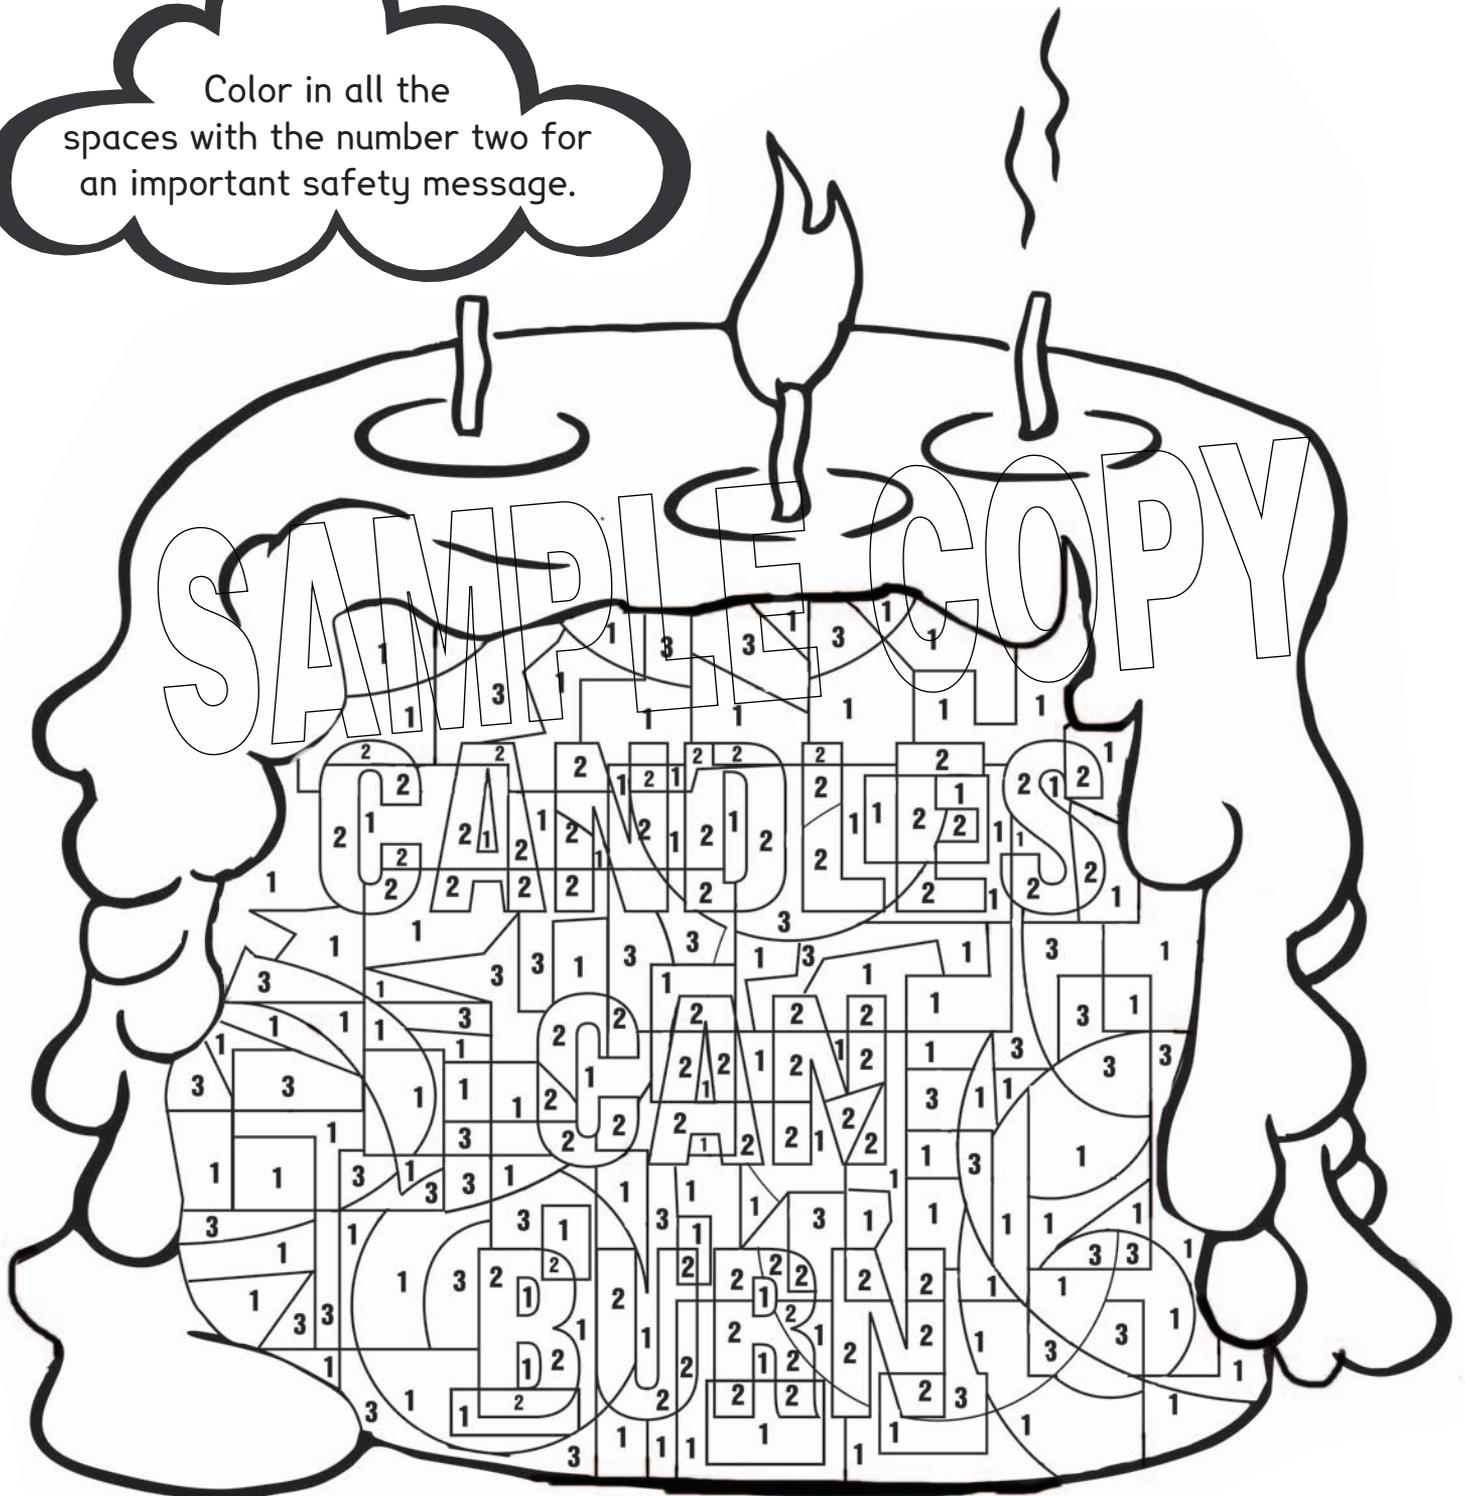

5. Keep pets away from lighted candles.
6. Use flashlights instead of candles in jack-o'-lanterns or when power goes out.
7. Have grown-ups put up holiday lights. Keep all holiday decorations away from candles and other hot things.
8. Remind grown-ups to make sure candles are in safe candle holders that won't tip over.

7

Never play with a candle that has just been put out. Hot, melted wax can cause burns. Remind adults to blow out candles very carefully so wax doesn't splatter.

Color in all the spaces with the number two for an important safety message.

Remind grown-ups and older brothers and sisters not to burn candles in bedrooms. It's very dangerous! Draw an X over the picture on the left. Then draw your own picture in the space below of a safe way to use candles. Remember, there should always be a grown-up around when a candle is burning.
